Costs swell for police headquarters

Budget. Deputy chief says additional funds needed for Westwinds Campus will not impact manpower, operations

JEREMY NOLA

jeremy.nola@metronews.ca

Calgary's police have re-assigned an additional $15 million towards the renovation of its new, centralized headquarters, a move that has raised the eyebrows of a taxpayers watchdog.

Purchasing the property for its Westwinds Campus — which has allowed the service to move much of its operational, communications and training efforts into one area over the past two years — cost an initial $100 million, and $25 million was estimated for renovations.

However, a need for additional space on campus has seen the latter cost rise to $32.8 million and the service could utilize another $8 million going forward, according to Deputy Chief Roger Chaffin.

"The value of the property is almost triple what we have paid for and invested in it," Chaffin said.

Ald. Dale Hodges was not aware of the cost bump, but questioned what impact it would have on the service.

Chaffin diffused those concerns, however, stating the money comes from the service's government-approved Municipal Sustainability Initiative funding and will not impact policing operations.

But Scott Hennig with the Canadian Taxpayers Federation said the additional costs were concerning, noting the service has already routinely fought for additional operational funding during city budget negotiations.

"We are not talking about a rounding error here.... As soon as you open up the floodgates on your reno costs, where does it stop?" he said.

Cost of busing

Public school fee model rolled back

Most Calgary public school parents will pay an equal, flat rate for busing this fall, as officials have put the brakes on a planned two-tier model.

Chief Superintendent Naomi Johnson said Calgary Board of Education administrators made their decision based on the values expressed by parents through an original survey and seven subsequent meetings in recent weeks.

The move away from an initially proposed model that would have seen parents with kids in alternative programs pay $430 does not impact a plan to charge parents separately for busing and lunchroom supervision, meaning parents with kids using both services will pay $80 more overall.

"As always, no student will be denied access to services and programs based on an inability to pay," Johnson said.

But Robert Hurdman with the Calgary Association of Parents and School Councils anticipates parents with kids attending community schools will be angered by the CBE's change of heart, as they would have paid less under the model first proposed.

"They did this to themselves," he said. "They were the ones who split parents into two groups ... at least they listened in the end."

Not all parents will be charged the $295 busing rate, as kindergarten will only be charged $215 per student and parents of students in Grades 7 to 9 riding charter buses will fork out $335 per student.

The rise of extremism in Canada, and the need to protect Alberta's vital infrastructure, has led to the formation of a multi-agency, anti-terrorism team specifically for the province.

Announced Wednesday, the Integrated National Security Enforcement Team — INSET — will consist of more than 30 specially trained members of the RCMP, Edmonton and Calgary police services, the Canada Border Services Agency and the Canadian Security Intelligence Service (CSIS).

The unit will be based out of RCMP K-Division headquarters in Edmonton.

RCMP assistant commissioner Gilles Michaud told a news conference that the unit — the fifth in Canada — will almost double the resources devoted to terrorism investigation and prevention in the province.

With its increasingly controversial oilsands projects, and continuing concerns over pipeline projects, Alberta is becoming a tempting target for violent "right- and left-wing extremism," Michaud said.

INSET initially concentrated on threats from foreign sources, but it has broadened its focus to include domestic terrorism, especially "radicalized" youth who may travel outside of Canada for terrorism training, Michaud explained.

INSET will keep tabs on any individual or group that poses a threat to national security, whether religiously, politically or ideologically based.

Michaud said there

In action

- Other locations. Other Canadian INSET teams are located in Vancouver, Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal.
- Formation. INSET was formed following the Sept. 11, 2001 attacks in the United States.
- No funding. No new funds will be allocated for INSET.

"must be violence attached" to a group of individual's activities to gain the attention of INSET, but the team will still keep tabs on non-violent groups like Greenpeace through "normal police work."

Flood fears after Tuesday's downpour

Caution. Calgary Fire Department warns Calgarians to stay away from the city's rivers

ALICIA GERRIOR
calgary@metronews.ca

Calgarians have a watchful eye on the city's waterways after levels rose after Tuesday night's series of storms.

Heavy rain from Tuesday night's violent storm led the city to issue to high-water warnings for Elbow River.

The Calgary Fire Department advises Calgarians not to partake in boating activities and to stay off of the riverbanks due to a high-water advisory on the Elbow River.

Jayson Doysher, spokesman for the Calgary Fire Department, said it's in the best interest of Calgarians to avoid being near the water.

The element of danger didn't deter Andrew Cunningham from taking an afternoon stroll on a closed pathway of the very river the city issued warnings for.

Cunningham, who admitted he was aware of the warnings, said he believed he was a safe enough distance away from the water.

Rising water

- The city has lowered Glemore Reservoir water levels to prevent flooding. The public is asked to stay off the Reservoir until further notice.
- More than 1,500 Calgarians were evacuated in a state of local emergency during the June 2005 flood.

"If you keep your distance far enough away, I think you're fine," said Cunningham.

The last major flood to hit Calgary, the devastating June 2005 flood, damaged approximately 40,000 homes.

As we approach the summer months, many home owners in low-lying areas fear for the worst.

But they can breathe a sigh of relief as Frank Friga, senior planning engineer for City of Calgary Water Resources, said a flood of 2005's magnitude clocks in at a one-in-20-year frequency, with just a five per cent chance of occurring.

And Environment Canada Meteorologist Bill McMurry said Calgary could expect slightly below normal precipitation this summer.

The City of Calgary issued a high-water advisory for the Elbow River after heavy rains and increased runoff swelled the city waterway.

Feeding the meter for charity

Tim Richter, CEO of the Calgary Homeless Foundation, left, stands with Troy McLeod of the Calgary Parking Authority and Paul Morissette from the Calgary Food Bank, right, ready to deposit change into the donation parking meter for the Calgary's Road Home initiative. TESSA CLAYTON/FOR METRO

The Calgary Parking Authority (CPA) announced Wednesday it will be using some of its old parking meters for a cause that doesn't involve you paying for parking.

"It's really interesting and innovative," said Tim Richter, CEO of the Calgary Homeless Foundation. "A lot of people want to help but they're struggling with how — here's an ability for people to help in little ways when they feel like it."

Calgary's Road Home allows Calgarians to donate to the Homeless Foundation and Calgary Food Bank when they go to pay for parking downtown.

The idea originated in Denver, Colo., and the success of their program caught the CPA's eye.

Temporary donation meters sit along Stephen Avenue and Barclay Street for people to donate change, but they can also make specific donations at ParkPlus machines and through their cellphone accounts.

"Any donation will help so we're just happy to be able to provide that service and support these great organizations," said Troy McLeod, general manager of the CPA.

Richter likened the donations to an impulse purchase that may reach a new audience, but the best thing about it is there's no pressure, added Paul Morissette, board president for

Collecting donations

- The program in Denver, Colo., collects approximately $100,000 a year in donations, reducing panhandling in the city by 83 per cent since 2007.
- Donations over $25 are eligible for a tax receipt.
- One hundred per cent of the donations will go to the two foundations.

Not-so-dear johns. Education key to rooting out prostitution: Police

Many johns caught paying Calgary prostitutes claim to have no idea the sex trade is commonly associated with organized crime.

That's according to police who cracked down on prostitution in the city's southeast and downtown core late last month, in the process laying two dozen charges against offenders and workers.

"Some of them are shocked when we talk to them about the possibility of being robbed and other risks. That usually gets their attention — it's an eye-opener for them," Const. Scott Cowick said. "The main thing is education. Educating these people on the choices that they have made and educating them on the dangers behind it."

Those caught trying to engage a prostitute can face anything from fines to jail time in extreme cases, Cowick said.

"We are still enforcing as well," he said, adding the number of complaints from the public regarding prostitution has remained steady in recent years.

Price of oil. Redford confident of surplus even as oil prices falter

Alison Redford says she's not about to go all Chicken Little over falling oil prices.

The premier is standing by projections that her government will have a surplus next year, despite oil prices that are lower than expected.

Redford says Alberta has always had to deal with price fluctuations and she likes to think in the long-term.

"We have plans, we have choices that we need to make and we are going to govern based on that," Redford said on Wednesday.

The Alberta budget tabled in February calls for a $952-million surplus in 2013-14 after years of deficits. The deficit in this year's budget was $886 million. It's

School board to expand focus on career training

Hands on. Centres could be established citywide to give students advanced training in specialized fields

jeremy.nolaais@metronews.ca

Some Calgary students are moving beyond the walls of their own school to gain experience aimed at preparing them for the workforce.

The Calgary Board of Education has in recent years adopted a new strategy for career and technology studies that will see certain city high schools become a hub of sorts for education in a variety of specialized trades.

"We have been looking at how we can extend access and choice of programs — I would say this is just the start," said Cathy Faber, the board's superintendent of learning innovation.

That start is rooted at Lord Shaughnessy high school in the city's southwest. Students from other area high schools will attend morning classes focused on the basics — math, science and so on — before heading to Shaughnessy for the afternoon five days a week, where they can gain experience in engineering, medical sciences and other fields.

Mackenzie Smith, 16, is a student in the welding program at Shaughnessy.

"I learned a lot of stuff I will probably use in the future," the Grade 11 student said.

And Shaughnessy is only the beginning, said Faber, who hopes someday to establish career and technology centres throughout the city.

For parents seeking more information about the career and technology strategy, the CBE is hosting an open house at Lord Shaughnessy, at 2336 53rd Ave. S.W., starting at 1 p.m. on Thursday.

A BRAND NEW SHOPPERS DRUG MART LOCATION!

Shoppers Drug Mart is launching a new 15,400 square foot location at Royal Oak Plaza, on Saturday, June 9th. Open from 8am to 10pm daily, the new store will service customers and patients with a team of over 40 skilled staff from our local community.

"We are very excited to bring this new Shoppers Drug Mart to a convenient location that will enable us to better serve the people in Calgary," says pharmacist owner Anar Dattoo. "In addition to increasing our service and product offering, this new location will allow our team of pharmacy professionals, beauty experts and front store staff to better accommodate the needs of our patients and customers. We are confident that with this new store we'll be an even greater trusted resource in fulfilling the everyday health, beauty and convenience needs of our community."

The new location features a signature pharmacy, along with a wide assortment of health and beauty essentials. You'll also find new and exciting beauty brands in the Beauty BOUTIQUE™, where customers can experience one-on-one consultations with beauty advisors. The expanded convenience section of everyday food items includes essentials like eggs, milk and bread, along with the popular Nativia Organics Simply Food lines. There is also greater digital photo processing capabilities and accessories to meet your every need.

At the grand opening on June 9th expect to be greeted with a variety of activities and special offers, as well as complimentary makeovers. The first 200 customers will also be treated to a free Shoppers Drug Mart eco-bag filled with fabulous product samples.

friends, according to the founders of Calgary's newest sports organization, Beer League Soccer.

The new co-ed recreational league in Calgary is aimed at singles looking to get active, meet new people and potentially create a love connection.

"The priority isn't for guys that want to score five goals, the priority is for people who want to make five friends," said co-founder Trent Jackson.

The league will literally be kicking off in three weeks' time with men and women playing 11-on-11 soccer on full-sized fields.

There will also be opportunities for singles to drop in every Saturday for a $5 game and meet other singles.

"What we're really trying to do is listen to the community. Soccer has a huge following in Calgary," he said, adding the sport is popular among both men and women.

Jackson said in addition to games, there will be a tournament and events set up over the course of the season focused on bringing the entire league together.

What once was a makeshift stand rigged together with an IV pole and duct tape is now a tablet-computer-holding arm that attaches to radiation-treatment chairs helping Alberta Health Services treat pediatric cancer patients, while eliminating the need for anaesthesia or sedation.

Students in SAIT Polytechnic's mechanical design technology program — which instructor Lyndal Turner described as "a marriage between mechanical engineering and industrial design" — worked on the tablet holder for four months as a final project.

Graduate Irwin Huisma said there were a few challenges they had to address.

"Safety was of the utmost importance, then functionality we had to get down pat, and then, really, the aesthetic appeal got tuned in," he said.

Over the last year, radiation therapists have eliminated sedation for five to six patients between the ages of four and seven, said radiation therapy manager Mona Udowicz.

Assessment tools help doctors decide whether the child would be appropriate for non-anaesthesia or non-sedation during cancer treatments.

However, treating non-sedated patients can be more complicated and time-consuming, warns Udowicz. But without the side effects from sedation, children can participate in regular activities.

Initiative. Committee sends funding approval for drug-awareness campaign to council

Funding for an illicit drug-awareness and education campaign was recommended for council approval on Wednesday.

Up to $150,000 is requested, with a short-term focus on ecstasy after the PMMA incidents in Calgary.

With other dangerous drugs coming in, Bill Bruce, director of bylaw services, said people may get more than they bargained for. "They're unregulated, they're untested and they're extremely dangerous."

Ultimately, it'll be a flexible tool kit to deal with issues long-term, targeting clubs and entertainment venues.

Committee approves music-centre funding

The National Music Centre is one step closer to securing city funding after a committee gave the thumbs-up to a $22.5-million contribution.

While the final decision will come before city council, members of the community services and protective services committee approved the release of money for the first phase of construction.

Council voted in 2008 to contribute $25 million and has already released $2.5 million.

The National Music Centre will be built in the East Village and will incorporate the historic King Eddy.

The first phase of construction is expected to begin in October. METRO

London's calling and Leah Callahan is ready to answer.

But before the 24-year-old University of Calgary wrestler steps on to the mat to take a shot at Olympic wrestling gold, fans and complete strangers alike can get up close and personal with her through a new-age interactive film concept.

The Sticking Place, produced by Vancouver filmmakers Josephine Anderson and Brittany Baxter, explores Callahan's long run to the London Games starting immediately after last year's Canadian Wrestling Championship, in which she came inches from knocking off a 10-time national champion.

"The user can wander through Leah's development, not just as an athlete, but also Audience members can pull themselves away from the main story narrative to view journal entries penned by Callahan, explore her environments and view personal interviews with family members and coaches.

"It was a really cool way to show people what it takes to be an athlete," Callahan said. "The Olympics have always been my dream and it's kind of exciting to know other people are joining me for this."

Body-parts packages came with notes: Police

Magnotta case. Police being selective about disclosing information, hoping to discourage potential copycats

Police have revealed that body parts mailed to Vancouver schools were accompanied by notes — although they wouldn't elaborate on their content Wednesday. Montreal police confirmed they had taken over an investigation into the packages mailed to British Columbia, thought to be linked to a dismemberment case that has attracted international attention.

Two hands, two feet and a torso have turned up in different cities over the last week. Montreal police said they are working to find the missing head.

The suspected killer, former porn actor and prostitute Luka Rocco Magnotta, is in a German prison awaiting extradition back to Canada.

Police said the packages sent to Vancouver were accompanied by messages, as were packages received in Ottawa last week.

"There are some notes from the beginning, from the first package that we found in Ottawa," said Montreal police Cmdr. Ian Lafrenière. "What was written on the notes, we kept that for ourselves."

Meanwhile, the parts from a still-unidentified victim were being transported by Vancouver police back to the city from which they were mailed — Montreal.

Also on Wednesday, a passerby noticed what looked like a severed human foot sitting by a sidewalk in Montreal's west end, near the neighbourhood where Magnotta is accused of killing and dismembering victim Jun Lin.

Montreal police initially confirmed that the limb was human, but it turned out to be a rubber foot.

Police said the rubber-limb incident might warrant a criminal mischief charge.

Vancouver schools reassure nervous parents

Vancouver educators are reassuring parents after a human hand and foot were mailed to two local schools. Administrators at False Creek

Suspect may have posted new videos

Luka Rocco Magnotta appears to have posted new videos of himself while he was on the run, including one that began, "Hi to all my fans."

"We think it is recent.... It would be very surprising if it was filmed before the murder," Montreal police Cmdr. Denis Mainville confirmed to the newspaper La Presse.

An activist with the Animal Beta Project said, however, that she believed some of the videos had originally been made in 2007.

Investigators are also attempting to determine whether Magnotta commented anonymously on the grisly video of the butchery and dismemberment of a Chinese university student, apparently on May 25. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Protests. Fined MNA cites Gandhi as inspiration

A member of the Quebec legislature, arrested and fined at a student protest, says his actions are inspired by the work of Mahatma Gandhi and Martin Luther King.

Amir Khadir was ticketed $494 for blocking a road and violating a highway-safety code.

The sole elected member of the tiny left-wing Quebec solidaire, Khadir is in some ways taking after his teenage daughter — who was also detained at a recent protest.

His other sources of inspiration are more famous.

Khadir says his protest against tuition hikes, and against the province's special law-limiting protests, is modelled on historic acts of civil disobedience.

"I'm doing what Martin Luther King would have done — what Gandhi would have done," Khadir told reporters Wednesday in Quebec City. He said he wasn't comparing himself to the legendary Indian and American civil-rights leaders, but said he considered them his "models."

Israel approves construction of settler homes

A Hollow compromise. Palestinians enraged, settlers disappointed while State Department voices displeasure

Israel's prime minister on Wednesday ordered construction of 300 new homes in a West Bank settlement, a move aimed at placating settler anger over the planned demolition of an illegally built outpost nearby.

The decision infuriated the Palestinians, who have refused to conduct peace talks while Israel expands its settlements on occupied land. It also risked drawing an international backlash.

Netanyahu has been grappling with a domestic crisis over the unauthorized settlement outpost of Ulpana. The Supreme Court has ordered the five apartment buildings in the outpost to be removed by July 1 after determining they were built on private Palestinian land.

Netanyahu has said he would honour the ruling, while Jewish settlers and their hard-line allies in Netanyahu's government have vowed to resist the order. Netanyahu opposed the bill, saying it would likely be overturned by the Supreme Court and generate harsh international criticism.

In order to blunt settler an-

West Bank in crisis

Israel's prime minister accepted Wednesday's 69-62 vote despite widespread angst over the decision to transfer settlement buildings from Ulpana to Beit El.

- Internal Resistance. Settlers instead wanted the government to compensate Palestine for their unlawful occupation in Ulpana. They now vow to fight the decision.
- Reaction. Negotiator Saeb Erekat labelled the decision as a "grave development" while the U.S. State Department cautioned the move undermines the entire peace process.

ger, Netanyahu has come up with a novel solution: Instead of demolishing the buildings, he plans on removing them from their foundations and transferring them to the nearby settlement of Beit El. In addition, he said he would build 300 more homes in Beit El.

"Israel is a democracy that observes the law, and as prime minister I am obligated to preserve the law and preserve the settlements, and I say here that there is no contradiction between the two," Netanyahu said. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hosni Mubarak's health worsens

Hosni Mubarak's health sharply deteriorated Wednesday, days after he was sentenced to life in prison, and specialists were evaluating whether to transfer him to a better-equipped hospital outside the penal system, security officials said.

The deposed leader's health scare added to the uncertainty engulfing Egypt, where powerful political groups are seeking to bar Mubarak's former prime minister from the presidential runoff and derail the election.

Officials at Cairo's Torah prison said the 84-year-old Mubarak's condition had moved to a "dangerous" phase and that doctors administered oxygen five times to help him breathe.

Mubarak was the only patient being treated in the prison hospital's intensive-care unit, which recently underwent a $1-million U.S. renovation to prepare for his arrival. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Allied veterans attend 68th D-Day memorial

International politicians and Second World War veterans join in the unveiling of war-hero monument

With Second World War-era military planes darting overhead and Normandy's Utah Beach visible in the distance, a bronze statue emerged from beneath a camouflage parachute, in tribute to a man whose quiet leadership was chronicled in the book and television series Band of Brothers.

The unveiling of the Colorado-made statue of Pennsylvania native Maj. Dick Winters was one of many events marking Wednesday's 68th anniversary of D-Day, the Allied operation that paved the way for the end of the war.

The 3.6-metre-tall bronze statue in the Normandy village of Sainte-Marie-du-Mont shows Winters with his weapon at the ready. But Winters — a native of Ephrata, Pa., who died last year at age 92 — only accepted serving as the statue's likeness after monument planners agreed to dedicate it to the memory of all junior U.S. military officers who served that day.

"There were many Dick Winters in this war, and all deserve the bronze and glory of a statue," said former Pennsylvania governor Tom Ridge, present as the bronze statue, draped in a camouflage parachute, was unveiled.

It was here that Winters and his small band of men dropped out of the sky on June 6, 1944, on a death-defying mission to destroy four German artillery guns. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Obama 2012. Clinton goes public over disagreement

Is Bill Clinton deliberately sabotaging President Barack Obama? That was the big question in the U.S. capital on Wednesday, the day after the former president once again parted ways with the Obama campaign on a crucial election issue — the extension of the George W. Bush-era tax cuts.

Clinton, who's been campaigning for Obama ahead of the November election, told CNBC that those tax cuts should be extended temporarily at the end of the year, even for the wealthiest Americans.

That's opposite to the Obama administration's approach to slashing the country's mammoth $15.7-trillion US national debt. The White House wants those tax cuts to expire for Americans earning more than $250,000 a year, saying the country's richest people must contribute to reining in deficits. THE CANADIAN PRESS

India. Leon Panetta discusses volatile relationship with Pakistan, remains firm on U.S. military tactics

Just two days after a drone strike killed al-Qaida's second-in-command, Defense Secretary Leon Panetta made it clear Wednesday that such attacks will continue as long as the U.S. needs to defend itself against terrorists that threaten America.

Speaking in India — on Pakistan's doorstep — Panetta unapologetically dismissed suggestions that the strikes could violate Pakistan's sovereignty.

"It's a complicated relationship, oftentimes frustrating,

Assad regime. China and Russia united on Syrian sanctions debate

The Obama administration is warning Syria that UN sanctions may be near, as Secretary of State Hillary Rodham Clinton headed Wednesday to Turkey to talk strategy with America's allies and look for a way to win Russia's support for a transition plan ending the Assad regime.

Russia and China, however, who have blocked such sanctions before, issued a joint statement reiterating their opposition to any imposing of "regime change" in the violence-racked country, where some 13,000 people have died in more than a year of uprisings against President Bashar Assad's leadership, and a brutal government crackdown on the opposition.

The U.S. warning was delivered by Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner, who called for the world to exert "maximum financial pressure" on Assad's government. He argued that "strong sanctions can help hasten the day the Assad regime relinquishes power," but acknowledged that financial and diplomatic penalties alone cannot bring the needed political change.

In remarks Geithner

planned to deliver to a Friends of Syria group, he said that unless Syria demonstrates "meaningful compliance" with UN efforts to end the violence, the U.S. and other countries will "soon join in taking appropriate actions against the Syrian regime, including, if necessary, Chapter 7 action in the UN Security Council."

A Chapter 7 resolution authorizes actions that can ultimately include the use of military force.

Carnage. Blood, bodies litter Kandahar market after suicide attack

Three suicide attackers blew themselves up in the largest city in southern Afghanistan Wednesday, turning a dusty marketplace into a gruesome scene of blood and bodies.

Twenty-two people were killed and at least 50 others wounded in the Kandahar bloodbath.

Taliban spokesperson Qari Yousef Ahmadi claimed responsibility for the attack in Kandahar, the spiritual birthplace of the insurgency.

Afghan President Hamid Karzai condemned the attack on innocent civilians.

He said it proved the "enemy is getting weaker because they are killing innocent people."

The explosion occurred about five kilometres from the main gate of the massive military installation run by the U.S.-led coalition and roughly 500 metres from an Afghan military base.

In the east, Afghan officials and residents said a pre-dawn NATO airstrike targeting militants killed civilians celebrating a wedding, including women and children.

But NATO said it had no reports of civilians being killed in the overnight raid to capture a local Taliban leader.

Taliban bribing students to poison girls: Report

Government claim.

Females paid $1,000 to sneak toxic chemicals into school drinking water; many left sickened

The Afghan government accused the Taliban Wednesday of poisoning schoolgirls.

Taliban members were accused of bribing students and workers to sneak toxic chemicals into drinking water or spread it around school grounds, sickening scores.

In two cases, female students were said to have been paid almost $1,000 to contaminate water tanks at their schools with toxic powder.

Fifteen suspects have been arrested, officials said.

Government officials said six schools were affected in northern Takhar province in the past three weeks.

Although they did not give a total number of girls who got sick, they said one school alone had 125 cases.

Taliban insurgents would attack schoolgirls by spraying their faces with acid.

Spokesperson Latifullah Mashal said the intelligence service discovered a conspiracy by militants to try to scare families from sending their children to school.

"They want to create terror and fear among students," said Mashal. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Miss USA Pennsylvania says contest is rigged

Trump and pageantry.

Sheena Monnin says she quit the contest because it was fixed while others charge it was her opposition to transgender contestants.

The Miss USA pageant representative from Pennsylvania resigned her crown claiming the contest is rigged, but according to organizers the beauty queen was upset over the decision to allow transgender contestants to enter.

A posting on Miss Pennsylvania Sheena Monnin's Facebook page claims another contestant learned the names of the top five finishers on Sunday morning — hours before the show was broadcast.

Monnin claims the other contestant told her the names of the top five she spotted on a planning sheet for the telecast — and she decided to step down as soon as those same contestants were named during the show.

Reaction

"We're going to be suing her now.... She made a false charge."

Donald Trump, Miss USA Pageant co-owner reacts to the claims of Sheena Monnin that the beauty pageant has been manipulated.

"In my heart I believe in honesty, fair play, a fair opportunity, and high moral integrity, none of which in my opinion are part of this pageant system any longer," Monnin wrote in one of her Facebook posts.

Monnin, of Cranberry, Butler County, did not immediately respond to a Facebook message from The Associated Press.

Donald Trump, who runs the Miss Universe Organization, called Monnin's claims that the pageant was fixed "totally ridiculous."

In a live interview Wednesday on ABC's Good Morning America Trump said the pageant organization plans to sue Monnin for making the "false charge."

Pageant organizers confirmed Monnin resigned, but said it wasn't for the reason she claimed.

According to a statement from the Miss Universe Organization, the contestant who Monnin claimed saw the sheet vehemently refuted Monnin's account.

The statement includes text from an email organizers said Monnin sent citing the decision to allow transgender contestants into the competition as the reason she's resigning.

A transgender contestant was initially denied entry to the Miss Universe Canada pageant, but Trump subsequently overruled that decision.

Miss Rhode Island, the pageant's winner, Olivia Culpo, told WPRO-AM she knew Monnin "fairly well" because contestants were often positioned alphabetically by state.

She said Monnin's original resignation was based on her stance on the pageant's policy on transgender contestants and called it "strange" that Monnin is now saying something else.

"It's a little iffy to me," Culpo said.

The clap. WHO warns that STD Gonorrhea becoming drug-resistant

A potentially dangerous sexually transmitted disease that infects millions of people each year is growing resistant to drugs and could soon become untreatable, the World Health Organization said Wednesday.

The United Nations' health agency is urging governments and doctors to step up surveillance of antibiotic-resistant gonorrhea, a bacterial infection that can cause inflammation, infertility, pregnancy complications and, in extreme cases, lead to maternal death. Babies born to mothers with gonorrhea have a 50 per cent chance of developing eye infections that can result in blindness.

"In a couple of years it will have become resistant to every treatment option we have available now," said Dr. Manjulay Lusti-Narasimhan, adding the new guidance is aimed at ending complacency about gonorrhea and encouraging researchers to speed up their hunt for a new cure. Once considered a scourge of sailors and soldiers, gonorrhea — known colloquially as the clap — became easily treatable with the discovery of penicillin. Now, it is again the second most common sexually transmitted infection after chlamydia. With 106 million infections annually, it also increases the chances of infection with other diseases, such as HIV. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tourism boost?

Boring and Dull join forces

The town of Boring, Oregon, is now "a pair for the ages" with the Scottish village of Dull.

The Boring Community Planning Organization, which approved the gesture from one oddly named town to another, hopes the publicity and sale of Dull and Boring T-shirts will boost tourism.

Mobile wars. Windows Phone smartphones to surpass Apple iPhones by 2016, report suggests

A new eyebrow-raising report suggests an underdog in the mobile phone wars is just a few years away from overtaking Apple as the second largest smartphone seller in the world.

Sadly for Research in Motion, it's not the BlackBerry being heralded as a giant killer but Microsoft's Windows Phone platform, which research firm IDC says will surpass Apple's iPhones by 2016. As of this year, Google's Android platform has the global lead with 61 per cent of the smartphone market, followed by Apple with 20.5 per cent, RIM at six per cent and Windows at 5.2 per cent, according to IDC.

By 2016, IDC sees Android at 52.9 per cent, Windows Phone at 19.2 per cent, Apple at 19 per cent and RIM down just a tenth of a percentage point to 5.9 per cent. The report was encouraging news for Chris Weber, Nokia's president of the North American market, who was in Toronto on Wednesday for the Canadian Telecom Summit.

Weber wouldn't put a timeline on when Windows Phone could seriously rival Apple but said Nokia is looking to build off the positive press and user feedback the Lumias have received.

If Windows Phone is to take off, its fortunes will largely be tied to the success of Nokia, which recently launched a line of competitively priced and well-reviewed smartphones under the Lumia brand.

Poor share performance leads Barrick Gold to replace CEO

Barrick Gold Corp. has abruptly replaced its chief executive and installed a former U.S. investment banker as co-chairman of its board of directors, saying they will help the company restore its lacklustre stock price.

Jamie Sokalsky, who was the Toronto-based company's chief financial officer, has replaced Aaron Regent as Barrick's chief executive and president — effective immediately.

At the board of directors, John Thornton — a former president of Goldman Sachs, the U.S. investment banking giant — will join Barrick founder Peter Munk as co-chairman.

Munk, 84, who is one of Canada's best-known businessman, issued a statement thanking Regent for his efforts but making it clear they weren't enough.

Barrick stock closed Tuesday at $43.70, down sharply from its 52-week high of $55.36.

While the price of gold has declined from record highs, many analysts have said shares of gold companies including Barrick underperformed the metal.

Survey. Canadians now deeper in debt

A new bank study suggests the average Canadian household is more than $100,000 in debt and that Canadians have ramped up borrowing in the past five years.

The first annual BMO survey on household debt found that average household debt among Canadians surveyed stands at $112,329, including mortgage, credit card, line of credit and loan debt.

But the bank says so-called good debt like mortgages outweighs less favourable forms of borrowing.

While 25 per cent of those surveyed say they are debt free, 41 per cent say that they have taken on more debt in the past five years as a result of increased spending.

And 54 per cent of respondents said they expect to be debt free in the next five years.

The survey also found that 70 per cent of Canadians believe they can afford to pay down debt by paying more than the minimum, but one-third appear to be stretched with paying only the minimum amounts.

The report surveyed 1,507 Canadians in an online poll at the beginning of April.

Socialist feds lower retirement age

France's new Socialist government moved Wednesday to lower the retirement age for certain workers to 60 years old from 62, bucking the trend in developed countries in a gesture to unions that critics say is a costly mistake.

Governments from North America to Europe have been pushing retirement ages higher and higher in recent decades, as people are living longer and spending more years on state-sponsored pension cheques. Canada recently announced its intention to postpone the retirement age to 67 from 65. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Best Canadian brands named

Good business. TD Bank named most valuable business; Lululemon named fastest-growing in 2012

With its recognizable logo centred prominently on yoga and exercise gear, Lululemon Athletica Inc. was the fastest-growing brand in 2012, according to a marketing study released Wednesday.

The brand value of Vancouver's Lululemon — whose trendy and form-fitting workout clothing is already well-known in Canada and is steadily growing in the U.S. — has increased 292 per cent to a value of $3.24 billion, the latest study by brand experts Interbrand has determined. It moved up to the seventh spot for 2012 from 17th spot in 2010.

fying beyond yoga apparel into a lifestyle brand that resonates with a much broader consumer audience," said Alfred DuPuy, managing director of Interbrand Canada.

TD Bank was named as Canada's most valuable brand in 2012 with a value of $9.69 billion by Interbrand, up from the No. 2 spot in 2010, a 45 per cent gain. Interbrand said the improvement at TD — which has rapidly been ramping up its presence south of the border — is attributed to its attention to customer experience and its brand strategy. CHANNELING TV'S FUTURE

HE SAYS...
John Mazerolle
metronews.ca/hesays

NEWS ITEM: Canadian television will expand by at least two stations this fall, further growing this country's vast TV universe and highlighting the importance of specialty stations. Here's a look at some of the proposed new channels that will soon be on Canadian airwaves:

NHLP Classic: Just in time for this summer's expected labour dispute, National Hockey League Players' Association Classic brings you the greatest highlights from the 1994-95 and 2004-2005 work stoppages! Relive the greatest compromises and toughest stonewalling! See Goodenow and Bettman one-on-one! See classic meetings like the nine-hour February 9, 2005, spectacular! See highlight shows like Bettman's Top 10 attempts at a smile! "NHLP Classic: Because it's the Cash."

Fox News Canada: Made by Canadians against Canadians, Fox News Canada provides a fair and balanced look at the pot-smoking, war-avoiding, gay-embracing atheists that make Canada the moral cesspool it is today. Not to be confused with Sun TV, which is patriotic and cheap, Fox News Canada will spend top dollar to let you know that your country sucks. Shows will include The O'Leary and O'Leary Exchange and NDP: Ties to Terror?

Canadian Beauties Corporation: Featuring the best in Canadian exotic dancers from Tracadie to Red Deer, CBC will be equipped with a special "Panic Button" that immediately changes the screen to what appears to be an episode of Mass for Shut-ins.

CanCon
"Gord!, or PBS (Pinsent Broadcasting Station), will have a 100 per cent commitment to the most Canadian of names."

Gord!: According to strict CanCon guidelines, Canadian television is already 65 per cent Gordon-related, but Gord!, or PBS (Pinsent Broadcasting Station), will have a 100 per cent commitment to the most Canadian of names. Gordon Pinsent, Gord Downie, Gordon Sinclair, Gordie Howe, they're all here! Even Gord Stellick! Programming includes And How!, Pinsent-a-Go-Go and Star Trek: Gord.

OLN — Obese Loafers Network: Responding to this country's changing attitudes toward fitness, the Obese Loafers Network will appeal to the average Canadian's inner couch potato, which in most cases is hidden under many, many layers of outer couch potato. Home to best-in-class events like the Halifax Lounge-A-Thon and the Boston Pizza-eating Marathon, OLN will be the leader in inaction television.

CPAC Extreme: CPAC Extreme, or CPAC!, is just like normal CPAC, but with crazy angles, kickin' hosts, and the lady in the sign-language bubble is hot, hot, HOT!!! It's your No. 1 destination for parliamentary videos, live performances and more Hansard than you can handle! Go online to get your "hear, hear" ringtone!

And that's where the future of Canadian television lies.

So switch on, tune in, and stand proud, Canada. You're a beautiful country that always seems like it might self-destruct at any moment. You were made for television.

Already on board with Gord: Gordon Pinsent, centre, poses with Blue Rodeo's Greg Keelor, left, and Travis Good of the Sadies in April. The trio collaborated on an album based on poems written by Pinsent. CHRIS YOUNG/THE CANADIAN PRESS

BeatleMania offers fans the full Beatles experience

The popularity of The Beatles endures almost 50 years after Please Please Me first topped the charts in their native England.

And although the band's final live performance was in 1969 on the roof of its Apple Corps headquarters in London, many Beatles fans still dream of seeing the Fab Four in action.

Impossible, obviously, seeing as only half the band are still alive. But that's where tribute bands, such as BeatleMania, step in.

"They just had great songs," says BeatleMania's creator and producer John Van Grinsven, explaining the continuing appeal of The Beatles and the ongoing demand for top quality Beatles tribute acts.

"The Beatles music is always successful. They were the first real pop band. They had their own style."

Known in Australia as the 'Tribute King', Van Grinsven started his tribute act career in New Zealand 30 years ago playing Benny Andersson in the ABBA cover band, ABBA-solutely.

He then began directing and producing concert tours under the Showtime Management banner, creating successful tribute shows for such artists as Michael Jackson, Queen and The Eagles.

BeatleMania Live debuted 12 years ago and is still going strong with a new, younger touring cast.

Van Grinsven discovered the latest group of mop-topped musicians in Glasgow, where they were performing in clubs under the moniker, Being Beatles.

"They're sensational," says Van Grinsven.

"They're all in their late 20s, early 30s. They have the accent down pat and they really look the part."

BeatleMania Live features about 40 tracks from the Beatles' staggeringly good songbook, covering their earliest days with original drummer Pete Best, through their conquering of America to their final albums, Abbey Road and Let It Be.

"Fans are going to get the full Beatles experience," says Van Grinsven.

"This is The Beatles in concert. It's two-and-a-half hours of reliving some of the best music

Double the laughs. IFC will premiere Comedy Bang! Bang! and Bunk on Friday night

Back-to-back, IFC will soon be premiering what it bills as an anti-talk show Comedy Bang! Bang! and an anti-game show Bunk.

Anti this, anti that — but what they're clearly for is laughs.

It all starts Friday at 10 p.m. EDT with Comedy Bang! Bang!, the inconveniently punctuated twist on late-night talk hosted by Scott Aukerman, based on his podcast of the same name.

CB!B! is an absurdist blend of banter between Aukerman and his guests (first up: Zach Galifianakis, with whom Aukerman has previously teamed on the hilarious Between Two Ferns online videos), plus sketches, filmed shorts (such as a hidden-camera "gotcha" exposé called Tsk-Tsk Attaboy that's dumb enough to fit on Dateline NBC) and other flights of fancy (in the midst of one interview, Aukerman excuses himself to go feed the meter for his car, parked outside in a futuristic world at war).

Fluffy-coiffed Reggie Watts serves as the beats-generating one-man-band and affable sidekick. The show even launches with its own (falling-down-drunk) sommelier. And in a stark departure from talk-show orthodoxy, no one is plugging anything.

Befitting Aukerman's status as an alumnus of the brilliant Mr. Show, CB!B! is tightly formatted and jammed with comic elements, yet loosey-goosey and demented.

While many of the bits are carefully prepared, "any time I'm talking to guests — even when Will Forte comes out as a deranged airline pilot — all of that is improvised," says Aukerman, speaking by phone from Los Angeles, where his 10-episode series is produced.

Improv is also the name of the game — literally — on Bunk, the companion series that follows at 10:30 p.m.

"It's a game show where none of the questions have answers, where the prizes the contestants are playing for are imaginary, and the scoring is random," says emcee Kurt Braunohler, proudly adding, "I choose the winner arbitrarily."

Braunohler, an improv performer and stand-up comic, presides over a trio of contestants each week who, by trade, are also up-and-coming comedians.

Irwin kids star in YouTube animal show

Growing Up Wild.

Bindi and Robert Irwin's new series tops YouTube Pet Collective

Instead of an alarm clock, they wake to the sounds of elephants and tigers. They walk their dogs, but it's often to go see the crocodiles and echidnas. And when they worry, it is about creatures like the Tasmanian devil.

Robert and Bindi Irwin live in the centre of the 1,500-acre Australia Zoo near Brisbane, a thriving legacy to their late father and crocodile hunter Steve Irwin.

They are also the stars of Growing Up Wild, one of several pet series FremantleMedia plans for its new YouTube channel called The Pet Collective.

Bindi, 13, says she hopes the show generates interest in conservation because "every time we lose an animal species, it's like losing a brick from the house. Pretty soon, the house just falls over."

Robert, 8, wants people to know: "Not all animals actually make good pets. Be careful what animals you actually choose and always protect animals."

Fremantle, the company behind American Idol, The X Factor and the international Got Talent franchise, is already a huge YouTube partner, said Richard Vargas, senior vice-president of development and production for London-based Fremantle.

"Every time we lose an animal species, it's like losing a brick from the house. Pretty soon, the house just falls over."

Bindi Irwin on her hopes that Growing Up Wild generates interest in conservation

"There are over 3.2 billion views of Fremantle content on YouTube today," he said. "That's where our audiences are going, from TV to the new media world, so we are moving there as well."

The pet lovers channel and Growing Up Wild debuted on May 31. Through the week, The Pet Collective debuted other new shows like The Litter, the story of a litter of kittens narrated by Khloe Kardashian; The Unadoptables, looking at hard-to-adopt pets; and Master & Pet, a scripted comedy-drama about a woman and her cat who seems to be masterminding her dating life.

A new five-minute episode of each series will air weekly. There will be about 10 episodes in each series and they will remain in rotation for a year.

YouTube, owned by Google Inc., launched its original 100-channel initiative in 2011. Pets and their popularity seemed a perfect match for Fremantle and its production abilities, Vargas said. Some series will feature audience-produced video, but Growing Up Wild features TV-style production. "They are such an engaging duo. It's the Irwins naturally telling the camera and the audience their anecdotes about these animals. It's not like they are reading scripts or anything. They are really passionate about the subject," Vargas said.

Bindi and Robert Irwin pet an echidna. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

After their episode on the red panda, "I wanted a red panda for myself," he said.

The kids talk a lot about Irwin, who died in 2006 when he was hit in the chest by a stingray's barb while snorkeling on the Great Barrier Reef. They are proud of him and his accomplishments.

Both kids want to carry on his work, especially species preservation. Bindi is the teacher, Robert the paleontologist.

"My dad always said this and I thought it was very profound. He said, 'I always understand crocodiles because they will always try and kill you no matter what. You know what they're going to do because they are always going to try and kill you,'" Bindi said.

People might be trying to kill you too, she said, but "they will try to be your friend first. You can always count on animals to do the same thing and have the same personality and you can trust that. It's a trait that some people don't seem to have."

Of all the animals at the zoo, Robert likes the crocodiles the best. There are more than 100 at the zoo, both salt and fresh water.

"They are almost like modern-day dinosaurs," he said, and while he likes them all, his favourite is a 16-foot-long beast named Acco.

Bindi, named after one of her father's favourite crocodiles, said she loves them and the snakes, but her favourites are the echidnas, animals that use their long noses and tongues to eat ants and termites. In what the zoo calls the echidna experience, visitors can put food on their toes and the animals will eat it. "It tickles and they laugh and it makes the best photos," Bindi said.

What it's like to play the New Girl's (sometimes) guy

Q & A. New Girl's Jake Johnson gives us the low down on playing Nick next to Zooey Deschanel

HEIDI PATALANO
Metro World News in New York

A year ago, most people didn't know who Jake Johnson was. Today, men are stopping him in the street to say, "What the f— k's your problem, dude? That's Zooey Deschanel, dude," as Johnson himself tells it. Since getting his big break on the Citytv sitcom New Girl, the 33-year-old has been routinely harassed for his character's wussy behaviour when it comes to his roommate and perennial lust-object Jess (Deschanel). The will-they, won't-they quality of the relationship has drawn so much attention that #NickandJess became a trending topic on Twitter as the show approached its first season finale.

As Johnson sat down with us to promote his upcoming film Safety Not Guaranteed, co-starring Aubrey Plaza and Mark Duplass, he took some time to analyze the greatest twee-affair of our time.

Metro: So, New Girl. You yell a lot on the show.

Johnson: What I like about playing him is that I don't fully understand him. I know who Jess is. I know who Schmidt is. I'm starting to figure out who Winston is, but I don't know who Nick is and I think it's because — to get all deep and ridiculous — I don't think Nick has any idea who he is. He's wading through the madness of "f— man, I am 30 years old and I have not figured it out and I'm not getting any closer." There's panic and that sucks, so he yells.

What do you know about next season?

Nothing. I don't think they know. I think the reality of our show is that a lot of it exists in between (series creator) Liz Meriwether's ears and she doesn't know yet.

But your character and Zooey Deschanel's seemed to get closer at the end of the season.

For my storyline, I think there was a Nick-Jess thing and then they went really far away from it. But I think that was Liz. I think she didn't want it for a while. She thought at the beginning, that it was turning too Nick-Jess. And she was like, "I don't want this to be a relationship show." But then I think she went in her own mental evolution of it, I think she was like, "well, I want those characters to be together a little bit more." And so at the end of the season, they got really back together. People say, "Oh, I know exactly where the show's going. It's going to be this by season four." But I talk to Liz on a regular basis. We're friends. She doesn't have all the answers.

Where do you want to see those characters go?

I had times with Nick where I was like, "Eh, I don't like this guy." I know what he does. I enjoy playing him, but like, stop crying. Stop being so nasty. And that was the beginning of "this dude is way weirder than I imagined." And I like weird people, so I was like, "OK, OK, you're going to get weirdsies aren't you pal?"

Do you think Jess and Nick could work as a couple?

They don't get along great, so in my opinion, they're more of a Sam and Diane from Cheers where everything about Sam and Diane, they were opposites.

Zooey Deschanel and Jake Johnson star in the sitcom New Girl. HANDOUT

Nick is a realist going towards pessimism, not infatuated with the world, does not think sparkles cure everything, does not sing and dance through life. And Jess is, and they're both a little bit too far in one direction.

Well thanks for theorizing with us. Can't wait to see the next season!

It's still really new enough for me that it's interesting for me too, on my end and I don't feel ownership of it, so I wouldn't be having this talk if I was the writer, where I'd be like "I'm so interesting, how I'm doing this." I'm just a fan like everyone else.

Allure of Cronenberg's intimidating, poetic script is what drew Pattinson in Cosmopolis. British star explains what it was like playing billionaire Eric Packer, a role he's won praise for

Richard Crouse
scene@metronews.ca

When David Cronenberg wrote the Cosmopolis script he transcribed much of the dialogue directly from Don DeLillo's densely written novel. Those pages of complicated, lyrical conversation attracted the film's star, Robert Pattinson.

"I liked the poetry of this script when I first read it," he said. "My only idea was that it was really different to anything I had ever done and I thought I couldn't do it. That stuck to me afterwards and I thought that should be the way to choose projects, or which projects to go after — the ones you don't understand, or the ones you are scared of. That generally means you'll end up being better afterwards."

The script was so finely tuned that barely a word was changed during the shoot. The 26-year-old Twilight star says he is used to script changes on other movies, but a modification to a line about a gun on the Cosmopolis set jarred his pacing.

"I remember the line was about the attachment above the trigger guard," he says. "But there was no attachment above the trigger guard (on the prop gun). I was so used to the rhythms of everything and suddenly it changed the rhythm of the entire scene. We were doing page-and-a-half long sequences and it was so in my head that to suddenly change it on the day threw me."

He's been winning praise for his strange, otherworldly performance as billionaire money manager Eric Packer,

Robert Pattinson says playing Eric Packer was really different from anything he'd done in the past. HANDOUT but don't suggest he delved deep into his own psyche to create the man we see on screen.

He says the perception is that actors have "to be psychoanalysts," but that's just from the '50s. Before that actors only thought about their face, and their voice and their movement.

"I think that's one of the things I have come away from this movie with, in terms of acting in general. You don't need to analyze things that much. You don't need to understand it."

It's a complicated film, bursting with ideas and one very much open to interpretation and debate, but Pattinson would prefer to leave the psychological heavy lifting to the audience. "I'm not a post modernist scholar," he says. Instead he remembers what drew him to the project in the first place — the dialogue.

"I like saying it," he says. "When I see clips I want to say the lines again. It's like eating."

John Mayer is finally humiliated

With a new album coming out, John Mayer had been trying to play nice in the media — but he's got his foot back in his smug little mouth again after an interview with Rolling Stone in which he whines about ex-girlfriend Taylor Swift's song about their split, Dear John.

He calls the hit "humiliating," taking issue with the then 20-year-old's "cheap songwriting." "It's abusing your talent to rub your hands together and go, 'Wait till he gets a load of this!' That's bulls—."

OUR TAKE ON THE WORLD OF CELEBRITIES

The Word

Why did Miley Cyrus want a ring on it?

MONICA WEYMOUTH
scene@metronews.ca

Although she's been rocking a sizable diamond on her left hand all spring, yesterday Miley Cyrus confirmed that she's engaged to actor Liam Hemsworth.

"I'm happy to share this news with you all. I feel like all my dreams are coming true," the 19-year-old tweeted yesterday.

The news comes after Cyrus took a break from recording and acting to spend time with Hemsworth, 22, and do uncomfortable interviews about their sex life.

Now, why would a 19-year-old who is not pregnant or struggling with rent money get married?

Good question.

At first, we were worried good old-fashioned love still existed and had been listening this whole time, but it's not quite that simple.

You see, these two met on the set of The Last Song, a 2010 drama based on a novel by Nicholas Sparks — the same Nicholas Sparks who penned the most graphic of emotional girl porn, The Notebook.

At least she fell in rapid zombie love with a cute Australian actor and not the creepy guy sweeping up popcorn.

Summer wedding for Brangelina?

Brad Pitt and Angelina Jolie are going to have a summer wedding, according to E! News.

"Word on the street is that Brad and Angie will make it official late this summer,"

Ryan Seacrest announced on his radio show, quoting E! News correspondent Ken Baker. Speculation still puts the location of the famous couple's nuptials at their estate in the South of France.

McCarthy's son still misses Jim Carrey

Jenny McCarthy says the hardest part of her split from Jim Carrey has been how attached her autistic son, Evan, had gotten to the actor.

"I've tried to ask (Jim) numerous times (to see Evan), because my son still asks," McCarthy tells Howard Stern in an interview.

"I tell (Evan) that someday you'll cross paths, meet again, (but) it's hard. He's been in therapy. It's a process, he's working on it."

But McCarthy, who lets Evan watch Carrey's films, still thinks breaking up with Carrey was a good idea: "Jim's a dark guy," she says.

Elton John wants Gaga to eat more

Elton John is worried about Lady Gaga.

"She is frail, and she doesn't eat when she should, and she's a girl, and it's tougher for a girl," John tells the Guardian in an interview.

"She works really hard. She will be in Denmark one night and Saudi Arabia the next. I know how tiny she is and I do worry about her, yes."

And John, who tapped Gaga to be the godmother to his 1-year-old son, isn't the only one concerned, he says: "I look at Gaga and I think, 'How does she do it?' I talk to her mom and dad about it. They worry."

Anchorage, Alaska wins Worst Dressed title

Anchorage residents are apparently not dressing to impress. That's the upshot of Travel and Leisure Magazine's reader poll, which put the residents of Alaska's largest city at the bottom when it comes to being on the top of style. The magazine ran an online poll asking readers to rank 35 American cities on such things as best nightlife, best burgers, best New Year's Eve celebrations, etc. By a three-tenths of a point, Anchorage landed just below Salt Lake City for having the worst-dressed residents.

"I think it's a little ridiculous, to be honest," said Hillary Walker, the assistant manager at lulu e. bebe fashion boutique in Anchorage. "I think dressing well is about feeling comfortable, experimenting, expressing yourself through your clothing. I think people in Anchorage do a great job with that."

Her bold use of colours, graphic patterns and classic silhouettes are favoured by the likes of Hollywood starlets Kristen Bell and Leighton Meester. And this summer the rest of us can add a coveted Trina Turk piece or two to our wardrobes without breaking the bank, thanks to a partnership between the California designer and Banana Republic.

The result is a limited-edition summer capsule collection, made up of nearly 60 pieces (think flirty dresses and printed tunics) embodies the laid back yet chic southern California resort esthetic captured in Turk's design philosophy.

Here, the fashion doyenne shares some sage summer fashion advice:

What colours should women incorporate into their wardrobe to stay on trend this summer?

Summer is an opportunity to lighten up and wear colour. I'm definitely expecting to see orange and turquoise as two of the top colours. I also love the combination black and white prints mixed with bright coloured tops or bottoms.

What should women who are self-conscious about baring their arms and legs wear during warm weather?

Bringing in a fun printed maxi dress or lightweight blouse in bright colours or a graphic print allows you to celebrate the ease and sophistication of summer with pieces most flattering to your silhouette. The three-quarter sleeve Wren blouse in the Pisces print and the black and white zazzy zebra printed tunic top are done in lightweight fabrics that work well in the heat of summer.

Do you follow any fashion rules? If so, can you share a few?

The most important fashion rule is to figure out the silhouettes that flatter your body type and stick with them. Some trends will be great for you, others not. You don't have to jump on every trend bandwagon that comes along.

If someone could only buy two items from your capsule collection which ones would you recommend and why?

You definitely want to get at least one dress and one accessory piece. There are six great dresses in a variety of styles, prints and colours. If I had to pick one it would be the one-shoulder "Chai" dress that we did in the blue Coachella print.

My favourite accessory of this collection is the enamel bangle that comes in several great colour combinations.

Add some Mexican-flavoured gobble gobble to your tacos

This recipe serves four. THE CANADIAN PRESS H.O

A classic Mexican spice mix of cumin, oregano and chili is combined in a paste and used to coat the turkey before it goes on the grill. Topped with a crunchy, tangy slaw, these tacos taste like the kind you would find in taquerias.

1. In a resealable bag, combine cumin, oregano, chili powder, salt, olive oil and cilantro, rubbing to make a paste. Add turkey fillets and shake to thoroughly coat turkey. Let sit for 30 minutes or up to 1 day.

2. In another bag, combine red onion, carrots, jalapenos, vinegar, sugar and salt. Let sit at room temperature for 30 minutes, tossing occasionally.

3. Grill turkey over medium-high heat until browned and cooked through, about 5 minutes per side. Transfer to cutting board and let rest for 5 minutes before slicing.

4. Toss carrot mixture with cabbage. Divide turkey and cabbage among warmed grilled tortillas. Garnish with cilantro

Ingredients

- 5 ml (1 tsp) each ground cumin, oregano and chili powder
- 1 ml (1/4 tsp) sea salt
- 45 ml (3 tbsp) olive oil
- 50 ml (1/4 cup) freshly chopped cilantro
- 500 g (1 lb) boneless skinless turkey fillets
- 1/2 small red onion, sliced
- 2 carrots, peeled and thinly sliced
- 2 jalapenos, sliced (ribs and seeds removed)
- 30 ml (2 tbsp) cider vinegar
- 5 ml (1 tsp) sugar
- 1 ml (1/4 tsp) salt
- 500 ml (2 cups) shredded cabbage
- 8 flour tortillas (15 cm/6 inches diameter)
- Garnishes: cilantro sprigs, lime wedges, avocado slices

Chicken Barley Risotto. This delicious dish is ready in mere minutes

Ingredients

1. In a large skillet over medium-high heat, cook bacon until very crispy. Remove bacon and set aside.

2. Add chicken and mushrooms. Cook and stir until browned, about 5 minutes. Stir in bacon, soup, beef broth, tomatoes and barley and bring to a boil. Reduce heat to low and simmer until barley is tender, stirring occasionally, about 30 minutes. CAMPBELL'S/ THE CANADIAN PRESS

- 4 slices bacon, cut into small pieces
- 375 g (3/4 lb) boneless skinless chicken breasts, cut into chunks
- 12 mushrooms, quartered
- 1 can (284 ml/10 oz) low-fat cream of celery soup
- 425 ml (1 3/4 cups) low-salt beef broth
- 2 medium tomatoes, diced
- 250 ml (1 cup) pot barley

Turkey, Asparagus & Shiitake Sauté. Zesty eats

1. In a bowl, combine turkey with baking soda, cornstarch and soy sauce. Stir to ensure all the turkey is coated. Let sit for 10 minutes.

2. In skillet, heat oil over medium-high heat and brown turkey pieces. Transfer to plate. Stir garlic chili sauce into the same skillet until fragrant, 30 seconds. Stir in ginger for 30 seconds. Add onion and cook until softened, 3 mins. Add mushrooms, stirring often, until golden and lightly softened, about 2 minutes.

3. Pour in broth, scraping any brown bits from pan. Add asparagus, turkey with any accumulated juices and hoisin; stir to combine. Cover, reduce heat to simmer and cook for 3 minutes or until turkey is no longer pink inside, asparagus is tender crisp and the sauce has slightly thickened. THE CANADIAN PRESS/MAKEITSUPER.CA/ADAPTED BY EMILY RICHARDS, PROFESSIONAL HOME ECONOMIST, COOKBOOK AUTHOR, TV CELEBRITY CHEF. FOR MORE, VISIT EMILYRICHARDSCOOKS.CA

Lean turkey breast immersed in a yogurt curry marinade comes out of the oven tender, juicy and infused with flavour.

When served with a napa slaw, you have a light but satisfying meal for dinner or lunch.

1. In a bowl, stir together yogurt, curry paste, garlic, ginger, salt and fresh cracked pepper. Rub all over turkey and let marinate for at least 1 hour and up to 1 day.

2. Napa Cabbage Slaw: In a large bowl, combine cabbage, carrots, apple, green onion, yogurt, vinegar, sugar, cumin, salt and pepper until well coated. Sprinkle with cilantro and toss to combine. Cover and refrigerate until ready to serve.

3. Roast turkey in a 200 C (400 F) oven until it reaches an internal temperature of 77 C (170 F). Let rest for 10 minutes before slicing and serving with slaw.

Painted personalities

Decor ideas. Ever wonder what message the colour of your front door sends?

DESIGN CENTRE
Karl Lohnes
home@metronews.ca

Colour is a powerful way to send messages, whether on the clothing we wear, the furnishings and decor we choose or the colour we paint our front door. Since that entranceway is the welcome entry into our homes, choosing the right colour is a way to welcome company and to tell people a little bit about ourselves.

With that in mind, here's a few trending colours, what they say about you and where you should live if you like a particular colour.

Red
Gives a punch that says you have energy, passion and presence. A great colour to ward off potential break-ins, but not so great in a quiet, gated community.

Orange

You are not extravagant and rather frugal. You are an attention seeker but a very warm and exciting person. Great for a community/neighbourhood counsellor or leader.

Black

Likely, you are serious, traditional and strong; someone with substance lives inside your house. But black can also mean mourning, old and death. It's the perfect colour for downtown or stately living.

Green

You are a promoter of good health and good luck, but green can also mean jealousy. Great for young families as it also indicates fertility and stress-free living. Good colour for a farm or country house.

Brown
You like isolation and privacy when you're

Best green: Velvet Moss OR-338

home. It also indicates you are reliable. Brown is a great colour for living in a high-density townhouse or a condo.

Yellow

You are cautious and careful. But yellow can also stir anger and frustration as it fatigues the eye due to the amount of light it reflects. It's great for family homes with young school children.

Purple

You are the emotional type. Wealth, wisdom, exotic and artificial are other words that describe the colour purple. Good for an older person.

Blue

You are secure, safe and trustworthy. Blue can evoke sadness and aloofness and is the colour of weight loss. Good colour for a single person looking for a mate.

Best blue: Blue Hibiscus OR-413

Open to change

How to pick the perfect front-door colour

Look at the body of your house and its colour overall. Is it ruddy-brown, orange-brick, beige or grey? Your front door should be an opposite colour in order to stand out and look special. For instance, if your house is an orange-brown brick then choose a green colour for your front door. The brighter or duller the brick colour the brighter or duller the green will be.

Three things to consider:

1. The garage door, siding or window trims are never painted the same colour as the front door.
2. Painting the frame trim around the door the same colour will help give the door a larger presence.
3. Painting the inside of your front door the same as the outside will add a punch of style to your foyer.

Doing dishes at the cottage

Dear Charles the butler, With the summer months now here, my family and I will be spending most weekends up at our cottage. One thing that always comes up is the dishes; specifically, how I can wash them with our limited hot water supply and a very small kitchen! Signed, Bob (weekend dish warrior)

Hello Bob, Let's keep things simple, because ultimately, you're at the cottage to relax.

1. Fill a plastic tub with hot water and a good dose of dish soap and put it on the counter.
2. As dishes are used at the dinner table, scrap off the excess food and put the dish into the hot, soapy water. Let them sit for at least 15 to 20 minutes, or at least until the end of the - meal.

3. With a clean dishcloth, wash the dishes and rinse them under cool, clean water in the sink, then put them on a rubberized drying rack so you don't chip or scratch the dishes.
4. Alternatively, you can have a helper wipe the dishes dry with a clean dry dishtowel.

This method works no matter where you are this summer, whether you're at the cottage, boating, at a trailer or a campsite.

Sabrina shares a few of her stylish tricks

Decor diva. HGTV star Sabrina Soto helps readers take their homes from 'being OK to absolutely fabulous'

MEREDITH ENGEL
life@metronews.ca

Even if your design aesthetic currently means your college futon coexists with your great aunt's coffee table, there are ways to pull a room together stylishly.

Just ask HGTV star Sabrina Soto, whose new book, Home Design, gives the low-down on layering to get a room's flavour just right. Here, she walks through the finishing touches that give any space extra pizzazz.

The right accent pieces

"I think accessorizing can take a room from being OK to absolutely fabulous," Soto says. "It's about making the right decisions when accessorizing."

You want pops of colour, you want different textures, you want interesting pieces that tell your story, but you don't want to overdo it."

Her two rules for polishing a room like a pro?

"I always like to accessorize in odd numbers, and I never like to use things smaller than a grapefruit. I think too many little knickknacks become clutter."

The right lighting

Soto says it's the most important aspect of design — and sorry: overhead bulbs aren't gonna cut it. She suggests "two, maybe even three, artificial forms of light per room," even in small rooms.

"Lighting really does make or break a room, whether it's a sconce, chandelier, recess lighting, even table lamps. You want to have enough light in a room to balance a space."

The right fabrics

This covers everything from your window treatments to your couch's upholstery to the pillows on top of it.

Find a balance, Soto suggests, and feel free to ditch the matchy-matchy look.

"It's about mixing up prints but making sure that at the end of the day they still tell a nice story," she says.

And yes, you can mix prints!

"There's no specific rules, but you just want to make sure that the colours play well with each other. If you have two prints next to each other, you still want them still to have the same shades of colours. It's like clothes."

Has the dust already settled? A few tips for showing it out

A clean casa. Fighting dust is about more than esthetics — some tips for taking control

Once a week, Diane Foernssler takes arms against the dust that invades her Darien, Ill., home, using everything from the vacuum cleaner to a special mop for blinds and baseboards.

On those other six days, however, the dust wins.

"It's everywhere and it never goes away," says Foernssler, a fitness trainer and mother of two. "It's a losing battle."

Unfortunately, she's right.

Experts say dust's constant accumulation on all those books, clothes and knickknacks has nothing to do with poor housekeeping. It's a naturally and continually forming collection of some pretty gross stuff.

"It has nothing to do with being dirty," says Dr. William Berger, a Mission Viejo, Calif., allergist and author of Asthma and Allergies for Dummies.

A never-ending battle

"We do everything. But you'll never get rid of dust."

Simple tile-ish pleasures

Shiny and pretty. With so many options, the toughest thing about tile is deciding which one to use

Choosing tile for your home once meant picking from among a handful of pastel ceramic squares. Would it be dusty pink or dusty blue? If you were feeling bold, maybe mint green or pale yellow?

Today, we're surrounded — some might say overwhelmed — by choices.

Porcelain tile is now made to realistically look like everything from aged wood and rough fieldstones to sleek Italian marble. Tiles made of glass, cork, mirror and even leather are taking the place of traditional ceramics. In all shapes and sizes, they are being used not just in kitchens and baths, but also in entryways, mudrooms and more.

High style can be had for an increasingly reasonable cost, with mass-market retailers offering trendy glass tile for as little as a few dollars per square foot.

Don't do-it-yourself

Even the highest quality tile will look unattractive if it's been installed incorrectly. And demolition and tile cutting can be dangerous.

Amid all these possibilities, the biggest challenge is to choose something you'll continue loving for a decade or more.

"There's so much decorative tile out there now," says Matthew Quinn, principal of Design Galleria Kitchen and Bath Studio in Atlanta. But "some of it," he says, "you can just tell in three or four years this is not something you're going to want to see every day."

Here, Quinn and interior designers Brian Patrick Flynn and Mallory Mathison share ideas on embracing tile's new possibilities while still creating a timeless effect.

Be sure to go with something you'll love for many years. ISTOCK IMAGES and come back and there will be dust."

A whole lot of it. According to Berger, the average six-room home in the United States collects 40 pounds of dust each year.

The main contributors to all that indoor dust are microscopic dust mites; the breakdown of fibres from household fabrics and furniture; and human and animal dander (the nice name for skin flakes).

The dust mites, which have a taste for human skin, come in "countless numbers" in your bedding alone, let alone other spots around the house, Berger said. Getting rid of them is impossible; Females lay 20 to 50 eggs every three weeks.

Dust and dust mites are a large part of "indoor air pollution," a leading environmental health risk — primarily because people spend about 90 per cent of their time indoors, according to Molly Hooen, a spokeswoman for the Environmental Protection Agency. Dust and dust mites can trigger asthma attacks and allergies.

There are, therefore, reasons for keeping dust to a minimum that are far more important than maintaining appearances, the spokesperson says.

So while eradicating dust altogether may be a pipe dream, there are steps you can take to mitigate its accumulation in your home (see fact box on the right). THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Motivation to clean: A house dust mite as seen with an electron microscope, enlarged about 200 times. MISSION: ALLERGY/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dust off your cleaning routine

Some steps to mitigate dust accumulation in your home:

- Get rid of all that stuff. "The more clutter there is, the more dust there is," Berger says. Things like books, clothing and toys such as stuffed animals are prime collectors of dust, he says.
- Focus on bedrooms. "The bedroom should be as bare as possible," Berger says. That means having an uncarpeted floor, minimal furniture and only the current season's clothes in the closet. Encase mattresses, box springs and pillows in allergy-proof covers.
- For walls. Use paint that can be cleaned with water. Go for HEPA (High-Efficiency Particulate Arresting) air filters. A vacuum and a can of Endust give at least temporary relief, Berger says.
- Keep cool. Berger recommends air conditioning over fans, which simply blow dust around. (Remember to change air-conditioner filters.)

Floor to ceiling

All three designers are fans of using tile all the way up to the ceiling, rather than the more old-fashioned approach of doing partial tile walls with a snub-nosed edge.

"It makes the entire room more cohesive, and it can also give the illusion that a space is larger than it actually is," says Flynn.

"One of the easiest ways to shrink a room visually is by chopping it up; many times, for me, tile used in just one area quickly chops up a space."

Flynn has done kitchen walls in floor-to-ceiling tile, and Mathison recommends tiling a single wall from top to bottom in an entryway for a striking effect.

"You think of tile more in utilitarian applications," she says, "but it can be a beautiful accent." A full wall of tortoiseshell mosaic tile, she says, feels "almost like your whole wall is covered in jewelry."

Beyond ceramics

Flynn loves using tiles made of "unexpected materials, such as leather, cork and wood. Leather tiles can be used on walls and ceilings, but in lower-traffic areas. Cork is a dream because it helps soundproof a space, plus it offers a really warm, organic texture instead of the sleek ceramic surfaces we're used to seeing."

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

What tile screams your name? iSTOCK IMAGES

Glass tile is en vogue

- Translucent. Mathison sometimes uses it in smaller bathrooms: "Your eye kind of looks through it, so it doesn't create a boundary," she says. "It's an almost limitless look" that can make a small shower area feel larger.
- Try this. One fresh option is "using extra-large, extra-wide, back-painted glass panels on walls," rather than small glass tiles, "to bring contemporary architectural interest into a space."

NHL. New Jersey pushes back to avoid sweep and spoil Los Angeles' Stanley Cup party at Staples Center

Put the coronation on hold.

The Los Angeles Kings will have to wait at least three more days for another shot at becoming true hockey royalty after Adam Henrique kept New Jersey alive in the Stanley Cup final. His late goal secured a 3-1 victory for the Devils in Game 4 on Wednesday.

tape. I knew it came all the way across the ice,” Henrique said. “I knew (Quick) was going to have to come a long way to make the save if I was going to get up short-sided.”

That forced cup keepers Phil Pritchard and Craig Campbell to put the trophy back in its case. Game 5 of the final goes

Saturday at Prudential Center in Newark, N.J.

“We finally got rewarded,” said Devils coach Peter DeBoer. “Like I said, I've liked our game and our effort the last three games. We just haven't found a way to win until tonight. So hopefully that gets the ball rolling.”

Until the late winner, this series had the feel of a sweep. Fans came ready to celebrate what would have been the first championship for the Kings in their 45-year history and there was every reason to believe they'd deliver after methodically storming through the playoffs. THE CANADIAN PRESS

He showed no effects from his right shin, which was bruised right in his last start a week ago. In that game, he had to be helped off the field in the seventh inning after being hit by a line drive off the bat of Baltimore's Wilton Betemit. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Euro 2012 players told to 'go out and entertain us'

Soccer. UEFA president hopes scrutiny can finally shift from host nations to the matches on field

Now, finally, UEFA President Michel Platini wants the players to take centre stage when the European Championship kicks off on Friday.

Soccer has almost been ignored during a turbulent five years for Poland and Ukraine as they sought to vindicate UEFA's decision to take its showpiece 16-nation tournament to eastern Europe.

Now the former France great, who captained and coached his country, wants the teams to seize the headlines.

"I say to the players, 'Go out and entertain us,'" Platini said on Wednesday. He spoke at the National Stadium in Warsaw — one of many rebuilding projects delivered behind schedule — where Poland will open Euro 2012 against 2004

Racism response

- Platini promised that referees will stop European Championship matches if players suffer abuse from fans, as questions on racism in Poland and Ukraine dominated a news conference Wednesday to launch the tournament.
- Platini said UEFA has empowered referees to "temporarily stop the game and finally cancel the game if this racism keeps rearing its head."

champion Greece.

"What I would like now after (five) years of work, is to be able to calmly watch the games, to give the ball over to the players and let them get on with it," said Platini, who lifted the trophy in 1984.

The potential storylines are rich and deep for arguably the best international tourna-

Can World Cup winner Spain become the first nation to successfully defend its European title, and further define an era of Barcelona-inspired greatness?

Will a still-young Germany team overcome the Spain-shaped obstacle which keeps blocking its title runs?

Can the Netherlands rediscover its "Total Football" roots and reconnect with neutral fans dismayed by its negative, aggressive tactics that marred the 2010 World Cup final loss to Spain?

Platini echoes the popular wisdom that two favourites stand above the rest.

"These are Germany and Spain if they play at 100 per cent of their level," Platini told reporters. "If they don't, there are a lot of teams which can beat them." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NBA. Thunder drop Spurs to earn spot in finals

Kevin Durant celebrates Wednesday night in Oklahoma City. GETTY IMAGES FILE

Kevin Durant had 34 points and 14 rebounds while playing all 48 minutes of regulation for the first time all season, and the Oklahoma City Thunder claimed a spot in the NBA finals by beating the San Antonio Spurs 107-99 on Wednesday night.

Russell Westbrook added 25 points for the Thunder, who trailed Game 6 of the Western Conference finals by 18 in the first half and erased a 15-point halftime deficit before pulling ahead to stay in the fourth.

Durant grabbed the final rebound, dribbled the ball across halfcourt and raised his right fist to celebrate with a sold-out crowd. The franchise will play for the NBA title for the first time since 1996, before relocating from Seattle.

and 12 assists for San Antonio, but only eight of the points and two assists came in the second half. Tim Duncan chipped in 25 points and 14 rebounds, and Stephen Jackson scored 23.

Game 1 of the NBA finals will be Tuesday night in Oklahoma City against either Boston or Miami. The Celtics lead that series 3-2 and can earn a trip to the finals with a win at home in Game 6 on Thursday night.

The Thunder took the lead for good early in the fourth quarter, getting nine of their first 13 points on free throws as the fouls started to pile up for San Antonio — six on the defensive end and three on the offensive end in the first seven minutes.

Derek Fisher and James Harden hit three-pointers in a three-possession span to increase the lead to 99-93 with 3:13 remaining, and Oklahoma City held on from there.

Durant celebrated even before the final buzzer, hugging his family seated courtside after a foul was called with 14 seconds remaining. The Thunder became the NBA's 15th team to come back from an 0-2 deficit in a seven-game series, doing it against a team that had won 20 games in a row.

Horoscope

♈ Aries | March 21 - April 20.

If you think too much about the past today, you must refocus your thoughts on all the good things you still have to look forward to.

♉ Taurus | April 21 - May 21.

You want to be free, you want to be able to come and go as you please, and you have every right to do so.

Do only what makes you feel good.

♊ Gemini | May 22 - June 20.

No matter how difficult a task may look, the planets suggest that if you give it your best shot, you will make a success of it. Don't doubt yourself.

♋ Cancer | June 21 - July 22.

Stop and don't start moving again until you know what you are aiming for. It should be easier now that Mercury, planet of the mind, is moving into your sign.

♌ Leo | July 23 - Aug. 22.

You will meet someone today who, if you impress them enough, can help you realize your dreams. The only problem is the nagging doubt that you might not be up to the task.

♍ Virgo | Aug. 23 - Sept. 22. If you were hoping that other people would share in your positive attitude today, you may be disappointed.

♎ Libra | Sept. 23 - Oct. 22.

You don't have to give up on your beliefs and ideals but you do have to realize that other people sometimes see things differently to you.

♏ Scorpio | Oct. 23 - Nov. 21.

Go your own way, do your own thing and ignore the avalanche of disapproval that is sure to come your way. Most likely they are jealous of your ability to come and go as you please.

♐ Sagittarius | Nov. 22 - Dec. 21.

Jupiter, planet of luck, is smiling on you now. You have to smile back if you want good things to happen.

♑ Capricorn | Dec. 22 - Jan. 20.

The only thing that might hold you back today is a nagging feeling that in some areas you are not up to competing with the movers and shakers you are rubbing shoulders with. Nonsense!

♒ Aquarius | Jan. 21 - Feb. 18.

If you need to make changes to your routine then now is the time to get serious about it.

♓ Pisces | Feb. 19 - March 20.

You enjoy an occasional change of scene, so make the most of good aspects to the travel area of your chart to get out and about more.
